Weekly Summary

Compared to last week's market figures, both the feeder steers and heifer's price averages on a weather-related market ended lower by $4 to $8 dollars. Slaughter cows and bulls on a light offering ended fully $8 to $12 higher. Bad weather up North sidelined some buyers.

Today's light feeder calf offering was completely weather driven as last Fridays Cattle on Feed Report again showed lower placement numbers. The US Beef Cattle Inventory was released today and was also bullish as drought decreased the US numbers by 3.1%. These 2 highly anticipated reports both continue to drive optimism for higher future prices.
