Weekly Summary

Compared to last week's market, both the lighter and heavier class price averages of both feeder steers and heifers finished $3 to $5 lower with some plainer classes up to $10 lower. Slaughter cows and bulls however remained firm with last week's figures.

Even with a strong board finishing today, wet conditions have hampered both the movement and conditions up North forcing feeder buyers to soften their figures.

NEXT WEEK WILL BE OUR MAY WEANED SALE

COMMENTS

Today's market highlight would be young cows 4-6 months bred. Outstanding market on fall bred replacement cows. Packer cows and bulls are sharply higher as well. Calves and yearlings were mostly steady with a few classes being softer by 2 bucks. Quality and condition of this week's cattle would take the back seat over the last weeks seemingly making the overall market cheaper. Quality grazers still have plenty of opportunities to find new homes! We appreciate everyone and we will see you next Wednesday!
