Weekly Summary

Compared to last week's market, all weight class averages of both feeder steers and heifers ended fully steady to $2 higher on some of the lighter classes. Slaughter cows and slaughter bulls also ended firm with last week's figures on a good offering.

As the weekly slaughter rates continue to drop due less inventory offered, the packers are losing their grip on controlling the markets with the pendulum swinging more to the producer's advantage. They continue to look for any negative news to attempt to stall out this optimism.

COMMENTS

Light weight steers would be a few bucks cheaper and the heifers would be steady to 5 bucks higher. The heavier cattle would be mostly steady to a few dollars higher. Packer cows would be steady to 3 dollars cheaper and bulls steady to 2 dollars higher. Bred cows still in demand and pairs would look to be about $200 cheaper than the last 30 days. Mud everywhere but still a very active market! Thanks to everyone and we will see yall next week!
